SAVANNAH, Ga., Dec. 20.—The Savannah Press says President Coolidge will probably visit Sapelo Island, off the Georgia coast, not far from here, just after Christmas. Howard Coffin has invited him to use the magnificent residence on the 25,000-acre island which Coffin owns.

IF THE president goes he will be glad of it. Georgia will welcome him from one border to the other. He ought to come by motor and see the beautiful state as a closeup.

THE drive would take him through this fine old city. And, at Darien, 90 miles away, reached by as fine a stretch of highway as any on earth, California included, he would stop and muse on vanished greatness. He would pass the Bank of Darien, once the biggest south of Philadelphia, with a capital of $1,000,000, now a tiny country bank of $25,000. Once thousands of ships came to Darien for Georgia pine and cotton, bringing as ballast stone that now lines the shore. Darien, which gave its name to Kats' Darien at Panama, settled by Scots men that came first to Georgia, would not let the railroad come in. "The river is good enough," said Darien, and died in spite of its fine harbor.

Wise Savannah that knew better, now has both harbor and railroads.

IT'S impossible to see everything in America, but everyone ought to see Sapelo Island, its beautiful forests, ancient forts, 400 years old, ruins of Spanish missions, or oyster shell masonry 10 feet thick, cells for the monks only five by six feet, fleets of shrimp boats bringing in hundreds of bushels of fish at a load, and Geechee Negroes, possessing their own special language, suspected by other Negroes, "because they talk queer."

THE president, in his walks on the north end of the beautiful island, would visit with reverence the graveyard of the Negroes, and admire the practical and religious side of the Negro character.

ON ONE gravestone, written in the concrete when it was soft, he would read "In Memory of My First Husband, Carl Hury, Born April 25, 1857, Died September 11th, 1889, age 32. At Rest." On another "Casare Jackson, He Died in Faith, Sleep On, Son."

ALBERT WATKIN WINS IN APPEAL

The East Liverpool municipal court, which found Albert Watkin, Ridgeway avenue potters, guilty of a liquor violation last September, was reversed in a decision handed down in common pleas court, Lisbon, yesterday by Judge C. L. Newcomer, of Bryan.

Watkin, who was represented by Attorney Blaine H. Cochran, carried the case to the common pleas court on error after he had been fined $150 and costs. Police, who raided Watkin's home, said that no liquor was found but that bottles and glasses there contained the odor of whisky.

As a result of injuries sustained Tuesday night when he was struck by an interurban street car near Yellow creek, Harry Pitcher, 56, of Washington avenue, Wellsville, died this morning at 3:30 o'clock in the City hospital. The base of his skull was fractured.

Details of the accident in which Pitcher was fatally injured are meager according to authorities, who declare that some reports indicate Pitcher inadvertently walked into the car near the undergrade crossing at the creek.

Pitcher was employed as a boiler fireman at the American Sheet and Tin Plate plant in Wellsville. He had lived in Wellsville 17 years.

Leaves Brother and Sister. He is survived by a brother, Allen, Cleveland; a sister, Miss Mary E. Pitcher, Wellsville; a nephew, B. C. Pitcher, Cleveland; and a niece, Hazel, East Liverpool.

BEETHAM HINTED FOR DRY POST

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 20.—The report that Governor-elect Myers V. Cooper will announce the appointment of Rupert Beetham, Cadiz banker, as state prohibition commissioner within the next day or two was current today in state political circles. Cooper and his intimate advisers, however, declined to comment relative to this report. If appointed, Beetham will succeed State Prohibition Commissioner B. F. McDonald.

Beetham was understood to have conferred with Cooper here last night. It was possible, according to prevailing reports, that Cooper will, at the same time, announce his election of a member of the state tax commission, to succeed H. C. Reed, Batavia, Democrat. Friends of former Lieutenant Governor Charles H. Lewis, Columbus, and S. E. Forney, Columbus, today were urging their appointment as member of the state tax commission. Forney is a former member of this commission.

MIDLAND FIRES CAUSE $630 LOSS

Two fires in Midland last night caused $600 damage.

Defective electric light wiring was blamed for the blaze at the home of Michael Tepovich, 312 Midland avenue, shortly after midnight. Damage estimated at $600, was done to the first floor rooms in the two-story structure.

The other was an awning blaze at the grocery store owned by Samuel Welsh at Midland avenue and Fifth street. The loss was $30.

The Midland fire department answered both alarms.

ICE FLOWS DELAY ANTARTIC TRIP

LONDON, Dec. 20.—Heavy seas and thick ice flows are delaying the Antarctic expedition of Commander R. E. Byrd, said advices from Dunedin, N. Z., today.

The steamship Eleanor Bolling has returned to Dunedin after an unsuccessful attempt to tow the supply ship City of New York further south. Heavy seas caused the tow line to break twice. The ice pack is the thickest in 13 years. The ship made only 25 miles in seven days and was docked to enable the crew to fit a new propeller.

The Eleanor Bolling will shortly leave for the south with an airplane and other supplies.

At the rear of the lobby in the Fifth street institution has been erected a 26-foot Yule tree. Eight men worked throughout Wednesday night in decorating the tree which bears 283 electric lights, 600 ornaments and 120 packages of trolleys.

"Pinworm," Mysterious Parasite is Blamed For Appendicitis by Dr. Frank C. Henry

BY DAVID P. SENTNER. (Copyright, I. N. S., 1928.)

PERTH AMBOY, N. J., Dec. 20.—A mysterious parasite, the "pinworm," so small that an army of them could pass abreast through the eye of a needle, is responsible for appendicitis, America's most prevalent major-operation disease.

This revolutionary theory, supported by practical observations and research work over a period of 25 years, was revealed to International News Service today by Dr. Frank C. Henry, eminent surgeon, and authority on appendicitis.

Not only is Dr. Henry convinced that this black prince of bacteria is the cause of appendicitis but he believes the affliction can be prevented, if the proper educational campaign is waged.

Disease Spread by Kissing. "Not only is appendicitis caused originally by pinworms, according to my experience," said Dr. Henry,

CERAMIC PLANT OWNERS LAUNCH CAMPAIGN FOR TARIFF RELIEF

U. S. Potters Confer With China and Glass Importers.

MEET IN NEWELL

Wells, Thompson, Burgess and Others in Conference.

Plans for a movement to bring about tariff reforms for the relief of American ceramic manufacturers, were discussed at a conference between representatives of the United States Potters' association and china and glass importers in the offices of the Homer Laughlin China company, at Newell, yesterday.

The conference was attended by W. E. Wells, secretary-treasurer and general manager of the Homer Laughlin China company; Malcolm Thompson, East Liverpool, president of the United States Potters' association; William Burgess, Trenton, N. J., first vice-president of the association and a recognized authority in tariff matters; and Charles L. Sebring, of the Crescent China company, Alliance, representing the manufacturers, and Joseph Gilman of Jones, McGuffie and Stratton, Boston, one of the largest importers of china and glass in the United States, and William S. Pitt, chairman of the William S. Pitts Corporation, New York, importers of English-made ware.

Prepare for Washington Hearing. "The meeting was to discuss 'tariff matters,'" was the comment of Wells today. "Further than that I can say nothing at this time."

$250 NEEDED IN SEAL DRIVE

Campaigners Appeal to 25 to Buy Health Bonds.

An appeal to 25 persons to purchase $10 bonds was made today by Mrs. Louis H. Steinfeld, chairman of the Christmas health seal campaign, in an effort to reach the $2,140 quota.

Approximately $1,800 has been collected. If $250 can be obtained from the sale of bonds, Mrs. Steinfeld believes that the balance will be forthcoming in the Good Luck sale Saturday.

In the Good Luck sale, shoppers will be asked to buy one seal paying whatever sum they wish. The post-office and Y. M. C. A. booths will be maintained until the night before Christmas, according to the plans of the organization.

Eminent Surgeon Believes America's Most Prevalent Major-Operation Disease Can be Prevented.

"but it is quite likely that the disease is spread by them, through kissing or contact between the patient and relatives or friends."

Dr. Henry cited the frequency of cases in his experience where one member of a family suffered an appendicitis attack and shortly afterwards several other members of the same family had the disease.

In the thousands of appendicitis cases he has treated, Dr. Henry said he had invariably discerned traces of pinworms, or oxyurias, as they are medically termed, in the early stages of the disease.

TROOPS MUTINY, RULER IN FLIGHT

Enraged at "westernization" orders of King Amanullah and his royal consort, Queen Souriya (inset), units of Afghanistan's army rebelled and chased their majesties into hiding. The photo shows a patrol of Sepoys on duty near Kabul in the Autumn of 1925, at which time Amanullah had another uprising on his hands.

Loyal Troops Hold Afghanistan Capital

King Amanullah's Soldiers Control Kabul, Wireless Message to Moscow Says.

MOSCOW, Dec. 20.—King Amanullah's loyal troops still hold Kabul, capital of Afghanistan, according to a radiogram direct from that city today. After an interruption of more than 21 hours wireless communication with Kabul was established by the Tashkent station at 2:50 o'clock this morning.

Two Nations Watch Revolt. LONDON, Dec. 20.—Important international events may result from the outcome of the revolt under way today in the isolated mountain kingdom of Afghanistan.

Both England and Soviet Russia are keen rivals for the friendship of the Afghan government because of the country's strategic importance upon the Indian Russian frontier. Even before the communists gained control in Russia, the old imperial Russian government had coveted Afghanistan as a "friendly gateway to the south."

Fragmentary reports, based mainly upon rumors current in Peshawar, Bombay and other Indian cities, said fighting was still in progress near Kabul and Jalalabad between the native tribesmen and troops loyal to King Amanullah.

Foreign Minister Reported Shot. Two reports concern the Afghan foreign minister. One said he had been seized and shot; the other that he was being held as a hostage. The war minister was reported to have been seized with a detachment of troops and held prisoner at Jalalabad.

An official telegram said a second Royal Air Force plane had flown over the British legation at Kabul, receiving assurances that all foreigners were safe.

Funeral services for William P. Rider, 59, manager of the Park hotel, Columbiana, were held this afternoon in charge of the Rev. C. E. Jones, pastor of the Columbiana Methodist Episcopal church. Burial was made in the Columbiana cemetery.

Mr. Rider was a member of the Woodmen of the World, Knights of Malta and the Rochester, Pa., Methodist Episcopal church.

He leaves three brothers, Ralph, Akron; Herbert, Butler, Pa.; and Addison, Fairmont, W. Va., and two sisters, Mrs. Elta Owen, Brigewater, Pa., and Mrs. Margaret Peterson, Rochester, Pa.

MILL WORKER'S JAW FRACTURED

Leland C. McNitt, 32, Third street, suffered the loss of several teeth and sustained a fractured jaw while at work at the Treadwell Construction company's plant at Midland about 4:45 o'clock yesterday afternoon, when a steel plate broke. Pieces of it struck him in the face and knocked him against a nearby machine. He was brought to the City hospital in the Dennis ambulance. He was attended by Dr. M. D. McCutcheon.

BOULDER DAM O. K. PREDICTED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—A $155,000,000 Christmas present was what congressional leaders predicted today would be given supporters of the Swing Johnson Boulder Dam bill.

They believed the bill provided for a 25,000,000 foot dam and a 1,000,000 horsepower plant on the Colorado river would be signed by President Coolidge before the holidays.

The president has 10 days in which to take action on the measure. He has sent the bill to the budget bureau for a financial report.

POTTERS ASK TRADE TO RULE IN NEW CASTLE PLANT DISPUTE

Referendum Ordered by N. B. O. P. Executive Board.

$20,000 SPENT

Ballots to Determine Period for Weekly Payments.

Executive board of the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters today called a vote of 7,500 members on a proposal to continue the payment of weekly benefits to striking potters for an indefinite period.

Weekly Benefits for 300. The referendum was prompted by the strike at the Shenango Pottery company plant in New Castle, Pa. The 12-week period, during which $19 weekly benefits are paid to union employees, expires about January 15.

According to President James M. Duffy, approximately 200 members of the organization who were formerly employed in the New Castle pottery are receiving strike benefits. In addition, the Brotherhood also extending relief to 100 other workers who refused to return to work when the owners of the New Castle plant announced adoption of an "open shop" policy. The first benefits were paid two weeks after the strike was called, being retroactive from the day that the walkout became effective.

At the rate of $2,000 a week, the New Castle strike has cost the Brotherhood approximately $20,000 so far.

Under the Brotherhood's member who is out of work for a week at other employment and still draw benefits. If he is earning more than $15 a week, he is paid the difference between his income and $15.

Collect Voluntary Contribution. Practically every union, affiliated with the Brotherhood is now collecting a voluntary contribution of $1 a week from each member to continue the payment of benefits to the New Castle workers.

Withdrawal of payment of benefits from New Castle potters at the end of the 12-week limit would weaken the morale of the strikers, Brotherhood officials declare.

Union members will begin voting on the proposal next week. Ballots are to be returned to Brotherhood headquarters not later than January 5. Brotherhood officials claim that New Castle potters are standing pat in the controversy, but two of them having returned to their jobs at the plant.

A dance for the benefit of the fund which is being raised to provide Christmas gifts for the children of the strikers will be held in the Potters' hall, Sixth street, tonight. The dance is sponsored by a group of former workers in the New Castle plant who are now employed in East Liverpool. Music will be in charge of the DeMar Miller orchestra.

BETHLEHEM LODGE YULE PARTY HERE

A Christmas program will feature a meeting of Friendship lodge, Star of Bethlehem, in the Sons of Veterans' hall in the Grand Opera House building, Sixth street, at 7:30 o'clock tonight. Refreshments will be served.

OFF FOR COAST

Ruth McConnell Plans to Leave Country, is Belief.

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Dec. 20.—In pursuit of Ruth McConnell, niece of Kenneth B. Coulter, New York broker, an airplane piloted by Francis D. Bowham and carrying Dr. D. O. Meeker, of Rochester, was scheduled to take off from the airport here today. Miss McConnell is due to arrive at San Francisco this morning on the Overland Limited.

The girl escaped a guard of two private detectives, and a nurse, hired by telegraph to watch her movements in an Omaha hotel. The girl left the hotel Tuesday morning.

Miss McConnell is said to have an ample supply of cash and passports for foreign countries. Her uncle, in an effort to prevent her from leaving the country, chartered the airplane to catch up with her. It is reported, and has asked Dr. Meeker to place her in his custody.

Veil of Mystery Lifted.

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—Kenneth B. Coulter, treasurer of the Carolina Southern railway, today somewhat drew aside the veil of mystery that had enshrouded the airplane pursuit of his niece, Ruth, 20, in the west and at the same time refused to take the situation seriously.

Commenting on reports that his niece had evaded a nurse and two private detectives who were with her in Omaha and had boarded a Pacific coast-bound train while her physician, Dr. D. O. Meeker, nursed in an airplane, Coulter said the girl was merely going west for her health.

"Dr. Meeker evidently wanted to be with her and used the plane to catch up with her train," Coulter said. "I have been informed of her whereabouts at all times and am not worried."

"Ruth was able to take care of herself. There seems to be a popular interest in aviation, hence the doctor's decision to use an airplane."

New York Banker Optimistic Regarding Business.

UPWARD IN 1928

Distinct Improvement Marks Agriculture Situation.

By W. S. Cousins.
(Copyright, 1928, by I. N. S.)
NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—The course of American business in 1928 has been consistently upward, with neither booms nor recessions amounting to anything more serious than temporary readjustments, according to Lewis Pierson, chairman of the American Exchange Irving Trust company, one of the largest amalgamated banks of the eastern seaboard.

Pierson told International News Service today that the optimism expressed in the 1927 business reviews "had been fully justified by the developments in business this year; in other words, that the business surveys had 'made good' in their forecasts for the coming year."

"A distinct improvement in the agricultural situation has materially increased the ready purchasing power of great areas which in recent years have found it necessary to seriously curtail expenditures," Pierson declared.

He believes confidently that the limit of the country's purchasing power is as far off as ever.

PIANO CONTEST ENDS JAN 31

The standing follows: First, Third street; second, Neville institute; third, Maplewood; fourth, Sixth street; fifth, Pleasant Heights; sixth, Garfield school; seventh, Central; eighth, McKinley; ninth, Chester Central; tenth, Newell; eleventh, Lincoln; twelfth, St. Aloysius; thirteenth, East Liverpool high school; fourteenth, Horace Mann; fifteenth,

Night Shopping Hours

Although national, state and city merchants' organizations and retail clerks' unions as well as newspapers do their utmost to impress upon the public the advantages to be gained by early shopping, a last minute rush in Christmas buying seems inevitable. For this reason, East Liverpool stores will be open three nights before the Yuletide.

On Friday and Saturday nights, the closing hour will be 9 o'clock, while on Christmas eve clerks will be on duty until 10 o'clock in order to assist Santa Claus in obtaining his requirements.

Wise shoppers, however, realizing the burdens imposed upon stores and all who work in them by the eleventh hour rush for gifts, will not defer their visits. Persons wishing to avoid the late shopping jam will select their presents during daylight hours, thus relieving the strain that young women and men who wait on them are placed under.

From 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. is the best shopping period of the day. Stores are not crowded during these hours, and salespeople, ever courteous, have more time to aid in meeting the needs and demands of the public.

Don't wait until night to do your shopping unless circumstances demand it. And, above all, let's have consideration for the workers behind the counters.

Bids For Liner Business

Unwilling longer to occupy a place in ocean transportation subordinate in importance to those held by Liverpool, Southampton and Plymouth, London is preparing to attract the business of the biggest of ocean liners making British ports, such as the Leviathan, Majestic, Berengaria and others in the North Atlantic service.

Already a number of fine Atlantic liners steam up the Thames to London, and the biggest oriental liners go almost to its outskirts, tying up at Tilbury, twenty-two miles down the river from the British metropolis.

It is at Tilbury that the big liners from India and the Orient dock. The village docking facilities heretofore have left much to be desired, vessels frequently being prevented from docking by the low tide, at which times it is necessary for passengers to wait for high tide or to be taken off in tenders.

The oblate such annoyances an immense landing stage 80 feet wide and almost 1,150 feet in length is being constructed there, which will permit vessels of any size to dock regardless of the tide. On the river bank in close proximity to this landing stage a great concrete shore has been constructed, five bridges connecting the two. A new railroad station has been erected on this river bank of man's contrivance in which trains will be backed up ready to receive the passengers from the liners and hasten them over the short trip to the heart of London.

The distance from Liverpool to London by rail is 200 miles, from Plymouth to London is 140 miles and Southampton is 80 miles away from the metropolis. At first thought, one might assume that Plymouth, which is but 3,492 land miles from New York, and Southampton but 3,598, might have a big time advantage over London which is 3,837 land miles distant from New York city, but there are factors which wipe out this advantage in either case. Passengers are taken off liners at Plymouth by tenders and the approach to Southampton is through the Solent, which is so shallow that vessels barely crawl along. Frequently such ships as the Leviathan, Majestic and Berengaria touch bottom and at times they stick fast in the mud. On the other hand, vessels bound for London can make good speed through the English channel and the Strait of Dover and negotiate the bay into which the Thames flows at such a speed as to compensate for the greater distance traveled, handicapped as Plymouth and Southampton are by the tender service in the case of the former and the slow water approach in the case of the latter and the railroad distance from London of both.

In fact, it would not be at all surprising should the visitor from this country to Great Britain be able, in a year or two, to travel from New York to the outskirts of London in the largest vessels afloat, which would be a most decided convenience.

"Yes, Yes."

Such is the reply of the Italian senate when Mussolini speaks. Some will argue that it is the fashion for Italian senators; others might place the cause in the recent stirring up of the dust of the ancient days of Caesar.

Be the cause as it may, the Duce urges ratification of a bill which sets up the Fascist Grand Council as a constitutional part of the government, and the senate votes, "Yes, yes." The king may think himself a part of the Italian government; the senate, after six years of "Yes" may yet delude itself into thinking that it serves a useful purpose, but the fact remains there is no government in Italy—the Fascist party; and the Fascist party is one man—Mussolini. The French king of old might well say, "I am the state." Mussolini may say it too—and with even more truth.

Why, we may ask, just why will a people endure such a government in these days? The answer is not hard to find. They endure it for the same reason that a bank or any other corporation will endure a tyrannical president if—he gets results. This word "results" is Mussolini's middle name.

Talking Marathon

The talented gentleman who, for a year or thereabouts, have been presenting dance marathons, now propose to launch a conversational marathon, the object being to see which of the several contestants can talk the longest without stopping.

While every husband undoubtedly feels he is acquainted with a certain somebody who could win such a contest without trying, isn't it about time that stunts of this sort are checked out?

There have been the dances, harmless enough in their way, and the flagpole sittings, eating and drinking struggles for record, aviation contests, cross-country hikes and what not, with the honors that fall to the winners ephemeral, to say the least.

What the United States actually needs at the moment is a nationwide marathon to determine who can attend to his own job the best and longest without having his attention diverted by such crazy fool things as these other marathons.

HASKIN DAILY LETTER

By Frederick J. Haskin

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 20.—Although the United States is not a member of the League of Nations and has even been accused of a militaristic imperialism, this country nevertheless can show a more constructive record of achievement in the field of advancement of the cause of peace than can any other. With the Kellogg multilateral peace treaties pending for ratification before the senate, the story of American's part in the preservation of peace is well worth examination.

At the very dawn of our national history, ways and means of establishing and maintaining peace occupied much of the thought of American statesmen. Benjamin Franklin, although a staunch supporter of the American revolution despite his Quaker disbelief in warfare, constantly worked for peace.

In these days of close federal unity it is difficult to realize how independent were the several states. We know, for example, that New York and New Jersey erected tariff barriers against each other. We know that, in the war of 1812, Connecticut was on the verge of secession from the Union because her citizens were not very keen about fighting England. We also know that in that same war, the legislature of New York appropriated funds for its militia, then engaged in subjugating Indian tribes, but with the proviso that in no circumstances should they attack any British troops, even though the nation was at war with Great Britain.

Samuel Adams drew up a letter for the General Court (the legislature) of Massachusetts, a suggestion that Massachusetts delegates in congress present the idea of peaceful settlement of international differences.

General Washington, as president, sent a commission to Europe to negotiate treaties of commerce and amity with foreign nations and in his letter of instruction to the commissioners declared that it was his chief desire "to see this plague of mankind (war) banished from the earth." In 1794 John Jay was negotiating a new treaty with England. In a memorandum concerning the proposals which he prepared for President Washington, he advanced the idea of settlement of international disputes by arbitration. The memorandum, of course, dealt with the English treaty and the suggestion of arbitration referred to disputes between the United States and England. In his own hand, Washington wrote across that part of the memorandum dealing with arbitration with England the words: "And with all other countries."

Jay succeeded in negotiating an arbitration treaty with England and, although there was spirited opposition, the senate ratified it but without a single vote to spare. That treaty is the first of American arbitration treaties and the first example of agreement to arbitrate international disputes of modern times.

A touchy situation existed between the United States and Great Britain during the Civil War. There was much British sympathy for the confederate cause and ships of war were equipped in England to aid the Confederacy, among them the famous Alabama. After the war, the Alabama claims were filed. They were arbitrated with the result that England paid over $15,500,000 in damages to the United States.

The United States also can claim to be a pioneer in disarmament. Today the boundary between Canada and the United States constantly is held up as an example of what can be done in the way of disarmament. There is not a fort the entire length of the boundary and not a ship of war on the Great Lakes. But there used to be. Perry's victory on Lake Erie is an excellent historical reminder of that fact. Yet, after the war of 1812, the United States put forward the proposal to disarm the Canadian border completely and remove warships from the lakes. In 1817 the Rush-Bagot treaty accomplished that end and not a gun has been fired on that three thousand mile border since.

The World court, now so much in the news, finds an interesting and purely American prototype. Exactly a century ago, William Ladd of Massachusetts organized the first American peace society and, in a publication, proposed a league of nations for the preservation of peace and a world court for the amicable settlement of international disputes. A Congress of Nations, he called it. In 1899 Secretary of State John Hay proposed to the disarmament conference called at The Hague by the Czar of Russia that a world court be set up to arbitrate the disputes of nations. It was this Hay proposal which proved the seed of The Hague Tribunal, the Permanent Court of International Arbitration. At a second Hague conference, held in 1907, American delegates were instructed by President Roosevelt to put forward anew the suggestion for an actual world court.

When Elihu Root was secretary of state he negotiated a number of arbitration treaties and many of these still are in force. They automatically bring disputes before The Hague Tribunal for arbitration.

It will be remembered that Secretary of State Bryan devoted much of his time to the successful negotiation of peace and arbitration treaties with many nations. The Bryan treaties are noted especially for their provision that a year must elapse between provocation to war and actual declaration. They have been called the cooling-off treaties.

So the United States has a remarkable and long record of good faith and earnestness of intent and endeavor in the matter of world peace. The Kellogg treaties are regarded by the friends of world peace as a splendid culmination of this record. The essential articles of the treaties now before the senate follow:

"Article I. The High Contracting Parties solemnly declare in the names of their respective peoples that they condemn recourse to war for the solution of international controversies and renounce it as an instrument of national policy in their relations with one another."

"Article II. The High Contracting Parties agree that the settlement or solution of all disputes or conflicts of whatever nature or of whatever origin they may be, which may arise among them, shall never be sought except by pacific means."

NEW YORK Day By Day

By O. O. McIntyre.

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—This is a true story which, if fictionalized, would make magazine editors edge you toward the door, adjust your tie and suggest dropping around next summer. It began in a shabby genteel boarding house in West 57th street, so characteristic of the 90's. She was studying art. He was a young mining engineer.

There were idle strolls in the moonlight park and hand-holding on the front stoop. Then came his first big job—a call to South Africa for three years. She would gladly wait for him to return and her life became a drab and agonizing wait for the mail man.

For a year his letters were glowing with the fervor of his devotion. And then one evening at dinner she opened an envelope, turned white and slumped to the floor. It read: "I have learned I can live without you. It is best that we discontinue all communication."

Time wrought his unfeeling healing, and after several years she married another. She was happy, but woman's most cherished possession, pride, was hurt. Her husband understood and was indifferent to her casual flirtations. She was trying to see if she had lost her charm.

No further word had ever been received from the man in South Africa. Her husband prospered, and with this prosperity came travel to all corners of the world—even South Africa—and wherever she was her eyes were constantly searching the crowds for him.

The old wound festered and became an obsession. She was fairly certain her love for one who had grievously hurt her was dead, but more than anything else she wanted to see him again—just to make sure. In moments of introspection there had been fleeting doubts.

A few weeks ago she sat at a window of her home, idly watching a building excavation next door. Among the workmen, she saw a figure swinging a pick who seemed familiar. At the same instant he looked up and their eyes met. It was he. And her husband, arriving a few minutes later, will never know why she greeted him so rapturously.

YOUR HEALTH

An Ounce of Prevention Is Worth A Pound of Cure.

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland.

When a disease is due to a known germ and runs a definite course, the speak of it as an infectious disease.

Examples of such diseases are the contagious diseases of childhood and pneumonia and influenza. In the same list is found rheumatic fever.

"Rheumatic fever" is given other names in certain localities. It is the same as "acute rheumatism." "Inflammatory rheumatism" is the same disease.

Undoubtedly this condition is due to one or more of the variety of germs called the "streptococci." All the streptococci are bad germs. Some germs, even though they are capable of causing disease, do not produce serious disease. But the streptococci is a germ we would gladly dodge, because it does real harm whenever it acts.

There are a lot of other factors that have something to do with rheumatic fever. It may be well that exposure to cold and dampness may lower the resistance and leave the body in condition to be attacked successfully by the germs of disease.

I doubt if red meat and heredity have anything to do with the disease. Excessive fatigue and lack of nourishing food may prepare the way. I have known several doctors who have worn themselves out during an epidemic and who have gone without proper food. The penalty they have paid was rheumatic fever.

A sore throat may be the final symptom of trouble. Fewer, definite pain in one of two joints and then redness, swelling and tenderness of several joints may be noted.

The acute variety of rheumatic fever lasts for a month or two. In a favorable case it may terminate in three weeks. The chronic type lasts for months, perhaps for a year and a half. When once it comes, it may reappear.

The victim of this disease must go to bed and keep absolutely quiet. Fresh air and frequent baths are indicated.

The sore joints are so painful that the weight of the bed clothes hurts. A support must be devised to keep the blankets from the sore places.

Warm cotton wrapped about the joints and gentle bandaging will promote the comfort. The joint should be fixed to avoid movement.

Hot applications, rubbing the affected parts with oil of wintergreen, alcohol or chloroform liniment may help.

The family doctor will prescribe remedies which will help to control the disease and at the same time relieve the dreadful pain.

Applesauce and Rhubarb.

It is Clemenceau, erstwhile Tiger of France speaking, and this is what he says: "Politics be damned! I'm through with politics. I'm going to the Folies Bergere. Politics is not only what Americans call applesauce, it's rhubarb. That's worse."

Here are too many important statements to discuss in the course of any editorial. Dismissing his reference to the Folies Bergere with the expression of a pious wish that this eminent Frenchman may enjoy his visits there, we pass on to his assumption that rhubarb is worse than applesauce. A fairer statement, of course, would be that applesauce is better than rhubarb; but is it? The plain fact is that American housewives acquire themselves with the greatest credit when they are pottering over rhubarb. Almost always their applesauce has too much sugar in it. Then the very fact that the vernacular name of rhubarb is pieplant tells you which of the two items makes the better pie.—Cincinnati Times-Star.

Don't Blame Your Children.

You may think your adult children don't pay enough attention to you. A little more money would make you more comfortable and more happy.

You blame your children because they do not provide it.

There are many instances when men and women do not give the financial aid they might easily provide their parents.

In most cases men and women with families have a hard time to get along—life is a struggle.

The things they must do without the luxuries their families must forego may be causing them sorrow and regret.

But every parent has a right to think that children will not permit them to suffer through lack of necessities.

On the other hand, parents have no right to expect more, if their sons and daughters have all they can do to get along.

Parents too often do not realize the difference in living costs.

They do not consider the increased demands in education which must be provided children who are to take a responsible place in the world.

Perhaps your son or daughter is thinking of you more than you have any idea, but to not the offspring on its feet seems first consideration. Copyright, 1928, International Feature Service, Inc.

New Type 'Flu' Demands Alkaline Treatment

A prominent St. Louis medical authority reports the present influenza epidemic as a new type of influenza—not the wartime flu. The new flu starts with a sore throat, but if it isn't properly treated, he states, the chief danger lies in the contraction of pneumonia and sometimes pleurisy.

Gargle with hot alkaline solution, neutralize the excess stomach acids, eliminate the dangerous disease toxins, and restore the alkalinity of the body.

These are preventatives and remedial measures to be taken. And that is why Jay-Kol as a pure alkaline compound, antacid and laxative, is especially recommended for this new type flu.

Jay-Kol makes a remarkably effective hot alkaline gargle (½ teaspoonful dissolved in a glass of hot water brings quick throat relief). And when taken internally, according to directions, Jay-Kol neutralizes excess stomach acids, eliminates disease toxins by its pleasant laxative effect, and establishes the alkalinity of the system.

Don't take chances with the flu. Get ahead of it by using Jay-Kol.

Ask your druggist for Jay-Kol and start using it today.

To Set Example
For Great Britain

LONDON—The recent election campaigns of Governor Smith and President-elect Hoover may set an example for the election tactics of the Liberal party when this nation "goes to the country" next summer.

A. J. Sylvester, secretary to Lloyd George, recently returned to England from America, after paying a visit to the United States for the sole purpose of studying election methods there. He is preparing a report of all he saw, from Governor Smith's much publicized brown derby to the gigantic radio hook-ups used to broadcast campaign speeches.

His report will be placed before the leaders of the Liberal party with a view to their adaptation to the coming general election here.

AKRON WOMAN QUESTIONED IN FEARN TRAGEDY

Maude Radcliffe, Known as Heldman, is Arrested.

GOES TO CANTON

Claims She Lived With Man Held in Death Quiz.

AKRON, Dec. 20.—Maude Radcliffe, 55, said to have been living under the name of Maude Heldman, was taken into custody here today by Deputy Sheriff Harvey Schwartz, of Canton, who immediately returned her to that city for questioning in connection with the Fearn-Heldman case.

He is said to have told the deputy that she was the common law wife of Wilbur O. Heldman and lived with him for a number of years before his marriage, 15 months ago, to Margaret Horner.

Heldman, who says his wife, Margaret, confessed to him that she murdered Bernard Fearn, a week ago, then killed herself in jail at Canton, as a coroner's witness. Authorities there are investigating his past life.

The Radcliffe woman was summoned for questioning. She was found here at the home of a woman who says she is Heldman's sister.

OHIOAN KILLED IN GUN BATTLE

MARTINS PERRY, O. Dec. 20.—Homer Smith, 28, is dead and Patrolman Peter Reddy, probably mortally wounded, as a result of a gun battle here this morning.

Accompanied by Officer George Cusick, Reddy went to the home of Smith in the north end of the city, with a warrant for his arrest. The man sought was in his garage and refused to obey orders to come out, and opened fire on them, the officers claim. Both returned the fire through the open garage door.

Reddy dropped to the ground, crying "he got me!" from the garage having stopped. Officer Cusick entered and found Smith dead, with a bullet through the heart. He rushed his brother officer to the hospital.

MILLION IS LOST IN GOTHAM FIRE

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—With Grover A. Whalen, newly appointed police commissioner, personally on hand to supervise police reserves, fire today swept a three-story building in Fifth avenue, injuring eight firemen and causing damage estimated at $1,000,000.

Whalen, who is noted for his immaculate appearance, was far from being his usual well-groomed self. The alarm, which resulted in the calling out of all available apparatus in Manhattan, had obviously interrupted his shaving. There were still smudges of lather on his face and his clothes gave indications of having been donned hurriedly.

Fully half a million dollars damage was caused by water, it was reported. None of the buildings was occupied.

MAN KILLS SELF ON WEDDING EVE

BUFFALO, N. Y., Dec. 20.—Miss Elizabeth Abbott, member of one of Buffalo's oldest and wealthiest families, who was to have been married tonight to Everett E. Mugler, 28, a prominent business man, was reported prostrated over the self-inflicted death of her fiancé. Mugler shot himself in the head yesterday and died at a hospital late last night.

The wedding was to have been a high light of the social season in Buffalo. No motive for the suicide could be ascertained.

GIRL FLIER OFF ON ENDURANCE HOP

ROOSEVELT FIELD, N. Y., Dec. 20.—Miss Viola Gentry, who holds a transport pilot's license, took off here shortly before 6 o'clock this morning in a Travelair biplane in an attempt to establish a new endurance record for women. She will remain in this vicinity during the flight.

The plane carried 110 gallons of gasoline. It is estimated this amount of fuel will keep the plane aloft for 18 hours, and Miss Gentry said she intended to stay up 15 hours, if possible. She has about 150 solo flying hours to her credit.

Ask Tariff Relief

Friday, January 10 and 11, at which tariff changes will be urged, is reported to have been discussed at this conference.

Urge Tariff Hearing. The United States Pottery association, in conjunction with the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters, has sought a hearing before the United States tariff commission for about two years. Because of low wages and cheap production costs, foreign ware can be shipped to the United States and sold at prices with which American manufacturers cannot compete, plant owners say.

Manufacturers and operatives claim that American valuation of imports is the solution of the problem.

FLU EPIDEMIC IS SPREADING

Predict Three Million Cases by Christmas Eve.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—Three million cases of influenza by Christmas eve was the gloomy prospect for the holidays faced by America today.

Public health bureau officials said if the epidemic continues to increase at the rate observed since December 1, officially reported in cases, representing less than one-fifth of the total, will number about 500,000 for the week ending December 22.

The epidemic has crossed the Mississippi in earnest, and is spreading to the big industrial centers of the mid-west, accounting for the jump of reported cases from 40,500 on December 8, to 141,677 for the week ending December 15.

Heretofore the epidemic has been sweeping through the sparsely settled territory between the Rocky mountains and the Mississippi, after having run its course on the Pacific coast. On December 1, there were only 16,000 cases, a large per cent in California.

HOOVER'S YULE ON SHIPBOARD

President-elect to Hurry Back to Homeland.

By Lawrence Sullivan.

BOARD U. S. S. UTAH (Via Arlington Radio Station), Dec. 20.—Because it is President-elect Hoover's desire to reach United States soil as soon as possible, it was believed certain today that the Latin-American "good-will" party would spend Christmas on shipboard.

Mr. Hoover is anxious to reach Key West, Florida, on January fifth or sixth at the latest. He is faced with the mountainous task of familiarizing himself with hundreds of administrative details and wishes to have as much time as possible for that purpose before he takes over the executive helm.

For this reason, it is probable that the three-day visit originally planned for Rio de Janeiro will be adhered to. The Utah will reach the Brazilian capital tomorrow and leave Monday morning or afternoon.

While the Utah plowed northward through rolling seas, everyone aboard, from Mr. Hoover to the enlisted seaman making his first long voyage, was preparing for a shipboard Christmas eve today.

New Year's eve will also be spent aboard. Plans for that celebration were also being laid.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Dec. 20.—Salute from Brazilian warships and forts will welcome President-elect Herbert Hoover when he arrives here tomorrow on the U. S. dreadnought Utah to extend the fraternal greetings of the United States to Brazil.

Chicago Expedition Off for China.

AMHERST BANK CLOSES DOORS

State Department Acts After Director Hangs Himself.

LORAIN, O., Dec. 20.—The Amherst Savings & Banking company, in the village of Amherst, near here, is reported to have closed its doors today.

Jacob Bann, 60, a director of the bank, said to have been its president, hanged himself in a garage at the rear of his home Monday.

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 20.—Because of a run on the Amherst Savings & Banking company at Amherst, Lorain county, the board of directors of the institution requested the state banking department to take over the company which was done this morning.

H. H. Blair, superintendent of banks, announced through his office here.

According to Blair the run started immediately following the death of Jacob Bann, 60, director of the bank, last Monday. Blair stated that the bank would be closed temporarily and an audit started at once. Blair, who is in Amherst today, declared he believed a plan would be worked out whereby the bank can be reopened in six weeks.

W. H. Schibley is president of the Amherst bank. It was organized April 5, 1906, with a capital of $50,000. Its profits and surpluses are estimated to be equal to that amount. The total assets according to the last report were $1,300,000.

COOKING SCHOOL NEWS

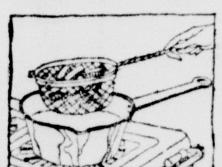

As quick as broiling a steak

All you need is an ordinary saucepan, a French Fryer and a 3-pound tin of Crisco.

Put your Crisco into a cold pan and heat slowly. When a piece of bread browns in 20 seconds your Crisco is ready for frying potatoes. Don't wait for Crisco to smoke.

Fill your French Fryer half full of potatoes and lower it into the Crisco. Increase the heat as the cold potatoes naturally cool the Crisco a little.

When brown lift French Fryer out of the fat, shake lightly, drain the potatoes on brown paper and sprinkle with salt.

When you have finished strain your Crisco back into the can and set it aside to cool. Then it is ready to use over and over again for anything you want to fry. The taste of one thing will not be carried to another.

French Fried Potatoes

JUST because we eat them almost every day we are likely to think of potatoes as a homely food. Why—they are banquet food! Really the flavor of the potato—particularly when French fried—is one of the most subtle and delicate of all flavors that inventive nature ever concocted.

But to bring out this delicate flavor it is essential that you use a sweet flavored cooking fat. And there's only one way to really test the flavor of your fat—taste it, just as you taste your milk; just as you test your eggs.

Taste Crisco as it comes from the can. Isn't it easy to understand now why Crisco's fresh sweet flavor makes fried foods taste so much better?

French Fried Potatoes

A real treat at home. When fried in Crisco they are delicious—a crisp even brown, no greasy outside and no smoke in your kitchen.

Allow one medium-sized potato for each person. Peel potatoes, cut in strips about one-half inch square. Let stand in cold water about an hour, or they can be kept in the ice-box overnight if covered with water. When ready to fry, drain, dry in a towel, and put a few at a time into hot Crisco (395° F.), or when a bread crumb browns in 20 seconds. When brown and tender, drain on brown paper, sprinkle with salt, and serve.

Fry raw or cooked sweet potatoes the same way, but do not soak them in water.

Never wait for Crisco to smoke, as it would be too hot to fry if it were hot enough to smoke.

You taste
your milk—
You test
your eggs—

NOW—taste your shortening!

Crisco's sweet flavor will delight you!

Crisco is used for Frying,

ELKTON ROAD JOB WILL BE LET ON FRIDAY

County Commissioners
To Open Bids on Surfacing.

HIGHWAY GRADED

Also Seek Proposals on Three Other Improvements.

Bids will be opened by the county commissioners Friday for the surfacing of 4.41 miles of the Elkton-Canton road that taps the East Liverpool-Youngstown road.

The highway has been graded, and all drainage structures have been built. A concrete bridge near the East Liverpool-Youngstown road intersection was finished last year by Contractor H. C. Armstrong.

Homework Job Listed.
The commissioners will also open bids Friday for the concrete surfacing of 2.3 miles of the North Georgetown-Homeworth road. The grading was finished several months ago.

In addition, bids are to be opened for the concrete surfacing of 1.5 miles of the Moultrie-Stark county line road.

These projects were proposed when a $950,000 road bond issue was approved three years ago. The last of the roads included in this general scheme will be improved during the coming season.

Elkton-Signal Work Planned.
At Columbus on Friday, the state highway department will receive bids for the grading and construction of drainage structures on the Elkton-Signal road, this section being a part of the Lisbon-East Palestine highway.

Progress is being made on the grading of the Lisbon-Columbiana road in Elkton and Fairfield townships. Probably two months will be required to complete this project. Opening this new road will divert Columbiana and other north and eastern traffic from Leetonia, and will eliminate the grade crossing at Quigley's corner.

SUCCESSFUL METHODS FOR COMBATTING FLU AND COLDS

Follow These Rules — Do not Fool With a Cold — Use Tried Safe Methods

Look out for colds—even mild colds in the head and throat.
Don't let them get down into the chest and lungs.
Don't expose yourself to damp or wet weather.
Don't go out if you are feeling sick. Influenza, grippe, pneumonia or other serious sickness often come from colds.

THE DANGER

Cold, "Flu" and Pneumonia Germs multiply by the millions and attack the weak and the strong alike. Watch out for colds, they weaken your resistance. The greatest danger lies in that "simple cold." Kill that cold quickly.

It is of vast importance to clean out the entire intestinal tract, upper and lower bowels. Keep the kidneys well flushed and freshen and strengthen the blood.

SLATER OPENS CANTON QUIZ

Detective Starts at Beginning of Fearn-Heldman Case.

CANTON, O., Dec. 20.—Ora Slater, Cincinnati detective who is heading the investigation of the perplexing Fearn-Heldman case, said today he would "start at the beginning" by questioning Mrs. Varnard Fearn at her home in the village of Waco, near here.

Fearn was shot down by a young woman on the front porch of his home at Waco the night of Dec. 6. A week later Mrs. Margaret Heldman, 21, of Lorain, confessed to her husband, Wilbur O. Heldman, that she committed the crime, according to the husband, because Fearn was threatening to break up her home by revealing a past incident in her life.

Heldman immediately took his wife in an automobile to surrender her to the sheriff at Canton, he says. En route, she shot herself, according to his story. She died in a hospital. Mrs. Fearn who saw the woman who killed her husband, identified Mrs. Heldman as that of the murderess.
Heldman is in the county jail here, under $25,000 bond, as a coroner's witness to his wife's death.
Two young women, of Akron, reported to have been former friends of Heldman's, are sought for questioning. Slater is expected to go to Lorain during the course of his investigation but he refused to make any statement as to this today.

Inability of parents to afford train fare for their return home was cited as the chief cause for those 22 students being forced to remain. Everything possible is being planned by John E. Harper, director of public welfare, to make the holidays an enjoyable time for those pupils. The Christmas program was conducted by the students last night.

RIN-TIN-TIN HIT IN CERAMIC BILL

Young America is raising the roof at the Ceramic theater. And it's all on account of Rin-Tin-Tin, who is in the most exciting whoopee of his career, "Land of the Silver Fox."

The humans who help him are Lella Hyams, John Miljan, Carroll Nye, Tom Santschi, Princess Neola, an Indian squaw, and funny tiny Oscanonta, a pappoose. Charles Condon, who did so many other Rinty rousers, did this one, and Howard Smith wrote the scenario. Ray Enright, who directed the wonder dog in "Jaws of Steel" and "Tracked by the Police," directed.

"Land of the Silver Fox" is a thriller of the snow country, and Rinty is seen fighting for the life and happiness of a young fur-trader who bought him from a harsh master. In the cast also are Nanette, Rinty's white wife, and their seven latest puppies! Oh, it's a great picture—"Land of the Silver Fox!" It'll get you shouting!

"HAUNTED HOUSE" AT AMERICAN

Capping the climax, so to speak; out-heroding Herod, and in a nutshell, offering the ultimate in thrills, comes the First National picture now at the American theater entitled "The Haunted House."

This reviewer has always been partial to mystery plays and pictures and looking back over a long list of such works, it is hard to see how anything could have been added. Yet the producers of this latest thriller have found a way to introduce scenes and situations as well as characters, that are unique.

Owen Davies' stage play of the same name was the basis of the story but the scenario has departed from the original premise and with endless ramifications impossible to stake limits has provided enough happenings in the old spook dwelling to satisfy a whole regiment of mystery lovers.

Admirable work is done by the cast under the capable direction of Benjamin Christensen. Chester Conklin, long and favorably known as a laugh master, provided an amazing lot of fun in his role of the henpecked husband forced by his shrewish wife to enter the haunted house in search of a hidden fortune. Thelma Todd, blondly beautiful, is the heroine; Montagu Love is a mad doctor. Larry Kent, Eve Southern, Flora Finch, Barbara Bedford, William V. Mong, Johnnie Gough and others make up a powerful cast.

It's the Mate to Reo Flying Cloud the Master!

If you're the man who didn't quite want to pay Flying Cloud prices last year—step forward one pace and smile . . . We've added the Mate to Flying Cloud the Master—a size smaller in inches and price—but not in performance. You know what you're after—balanced craftsmanship. A car that will do everything, as well as it ought to be done—a car for the experienced motorist who wants not only miles per hour and a good paint job, but effortless power and solid comfort. Speed—more than you'll ever need—here it is. Absolute dependability—dirt roads or concrete. No hitting the top on jounces when you hit the pace on high. A wheel that steers with a finger. Quick pick-up—to get away before the mob. Internal hydraulic four-wheel brakes that grip instantly—without grabbing or slipping. A constitution that makes you look forward to hills. And your wife wants? . . . More comfort inside—more room. A rear seat wider at the bottom to prevent crowding, wider still at shoulder height—no cramping on long runs. A front seat wider, too—so a third passenger won't turn you into a crabby driver. Since squeaks set her wild, she wants body-work welded instead of bolted or riveted . . . And, of course, she wants beauty—clean line that spells speed from nose to spare. No announcement could sell either of you a car, no matter what it said. This one is designed to make you go and look—and take a trial spin. Flying Cloud the Master has already proved itself. If the Mate is half the car we think it is, it will do its own selling.

High Cagers Meet Rochester Quint In Opener Tomorrow Night

Guard McConville Ill; Bob Witherow Limping

Blue and White Passers in None Too Good Condition for Scuffles With Pennsylvanians Friday, Alumni Saturday.

With one regular suffering from the effects of a "charley horse," another out with an attack of gripe and others suffering with colds, high school cagers will not go into the Rochester and Alumni encounters, Friday and Saturday nights, respectively, in any too good condition, to put it mildly.

Harry McConville, who has been working at a guard on the varsity squad, will probably be unable to take part in either scrimmage.

Bobby Witherow is barely able to hobble around. He developed a "charley horse" in football and the injury has been aggravated in cage workouts to date.

Saul McCoy, center on the reserve squad, is also out with the gripe and, as a result, will probably see little action in week-end engagements.

For the Rochester game Friday night, Coach Hurst likely will start McNutt and Feit at forwards; Dyke at center; and Witherow at one guard with Skidmore, Menge and Greenwood as candidates for the other. Whether Witherow will be able to stay up for the entire game is problematical.

In a prelim encounter, the local reserves will tackle the Midland seconds. The Blue seconds will probably have Pearson and Lane at forwards; Schneller at center and Crawford and Dalrymple at guards.

The varsity will have Chetwynd, center, Small and Lindell, forwards, for emergencies while the reserves will be able to call out Clark and Bowen, forwards; Durbin and M. Smith, centers; and Wooley and Brown, guards, when the occasion arises.

In general, the squads have been going along pretty smartly in workouts this week until last night when their passing was a trifle ragged. This, however, is expected to work out all right when the youngsters go into actual competition.

Hoskins, of Beaver Falls, will referee the Friday games while Bill Watkins, of this city, will handle the Alumni games Saturday.

LAYTON DEFEATS WILLIE HOPPE

CHICAGO, Dec. 20.—Johnny Layton, of St. Louis, Mo., today reigns again as world's three-cushion billiard champion following his defeat of Willie Hoppe of New York in the final match of the national championship tournament here last night.

Three thousand fans who packed Orchestra hall saw the Missouri cue wizard "run out" on the old master to the tune of 59 to 23 in 22 innings. The victory was worth upwards of $10,000 in cash and prizes to Layton.

AWARDED MEDAL

Carlo Wilkinson

Carlo Wilkinson, East Liverpool's 200 bowler, is possessor of a gold medal marking the execution of a perfect score. Wilkinson's achievement is recognized as official by the American Duetpin congress and as such won the Edwin J. Wuerthele medal. Wuerthele, of Pittsburgh, has awarded only three other such medals. They were given to Henry Hauer of Fayette, Pa.; Laurence Jones of Meadville, Pa., and Marty Corcoran of Pittsburgh.

Wilkinson's medal is on exhibition in the window of the American alleys, Sixth street.

Wilkinson led the American duetpin league with highest average for the first half of the season.

MALONEY, O'KELLY GARDEN FEATURE

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—Jimmy Maloney, who meets Con O'Kelly in the featured bout on tomorrow night's card at Madison Square Garden, was here from Boston today accompanied by his manager, Dan Carroll, and a flock of Hub rooters who firmly believe Shamus is destined to fight his way back to the top.

Maloney will limber up today at Stillman's gymnasium as Will Tuffy Griffiths, who got in from Chicago this morning. Griffiths, who was stopped in two rounds by Jimmy Braddock in his debut here a few weeks ago, is a semi-finalist Friday night with Charley Belanger, Canadian light-heavyweight champion. Belanger also arrived this morning.

The Griffiths-Belanger match will decide who is to oppose Jack Delaney at the Garden January 4.

Welter Rivals Ready to go in Crucial Bout

Edwards and Mitchell Both Confident of Victory.

While Matchmaker Ray Fouts has lined up a card bristling with action for the Valley A. C. show tonight at Wellsville, the Ray Mitchell-Fred Edwards battle, a purely local affair, continues to hold the major amount of interest evidenced by fight followers who have watched the two pugilists since they launched their fistic series a year ago.

While there are three sixrounders lined up, the local and Chester welterweights will occupy the main bout position on the card, preceded by two sixes, one four, and a three-round opener.

Both boys were extremely confident. Mitchell today declared that he expected to send Edwards to his chair in the third round—one round to warm up, another to start the killing and a third to polish off the job.

Edwards, however, has little to say, but his friends express the opinion that, aside from the referee, there'll be only one fighter standing on both feet when it's over. "Mitchell will be counting the stitches in the seams of the canvas," they predict.

Bob Smackey, Canonsburg, and Al Reno, Youngstown, lightweights, battle in one of the sixrounders; Young Billy Wallace of Youngstown and Jack O'Hanlon, Clairton, Pa., in the other. "Poison" Pizzone, Wellsville, fights Tony Lee, East Liverpool, in a four-rounder at 120 pounds and "Red" Williams, of the Northside opens with Irish Gilligan of Toronto.

Billiards

Harry Bennett increased his lead in the Club Billiard three-cushion league last night, winning from George Long, 35 to 32. Both had runs of three.

Farrar and Wallace are scheduled to play tonight.

MAROON, BISHOP GYM TEAMS MEET

DELAWARE, O., Dec. 20.—University of Chicago's gym team, Big Ten champions, will meet Ohio Wesleyan university gymnasts in Edwards gymnasium here on Friday night, Feb. 1, it was announced today by Coach W. C. Freeman.

Chicago will stop here on its way to Columbus where on the following night the Maroon gymnasts will meet Ohio State in a dual engagement.

Local Lad Wins Numeral With Hoosier Frosh

McConville One of Four Ohioans to be Honored.

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Dec. 20.—Charles McConville, of East Liverpool, Ohio, has been awarded a 1932 numeral for participation in freshman football at Indiana university, it was announced here today by the coaching staff. McConville played at halfback.

Thirty-six members of the rhine squad were honored with the awards, the list including eight ends, six tackles, six guards, three centers and 13 backfield men. When coaches Thom and Strohmeyer greeted the freshman candidates early this fall the squad was composed of 129 men.

In addition to the 36 numeral awards, the coaching staff named 20 men for honorable mention. These candidates will be given opportunity to win their numerals in spring practice. According to the announcement made by the Indiana athletic, the numeral awards will be distinctive football sweaters. Ten of the men receiving awards were from adjoining states, Illinois and Ohio each having four representatives, and Kentucky and Michigan one each.

Although the freshman squad, as a whole, was not as strong as the 1927 group, several outstanding performers are expected to offer veterans severe competition next fall. When Pat Paga starts preparation for his 1929 season he will face the task of filling the nine places left vacant by graduation and the developing of capable reserve material, and the 1928 rhine are expected to solve part of his problem.

Thrilling story of love of two girls for the same man

By HAZEL LIVINGSTON

And a little stab of pain went through her, thinking what it would be like without Flora.

"Oh, Flora, I was just thinking of you!" she cried, as Flora, who must have been right behind her, opened the front door.

"You couldn't have been thinking anything very pleasant!" Flora grinned, with a quick look at Daphne's downcast face. "Even in the rosiest glow of yonder ruby light you look . . . Oh, what am I talking about? Come on upstairs with me, I have news. No, not about you. About me. It'll surprise you!"

Her long arm was around Daphne's waist. Her breath smelled of gin. "Flora, you'll break your lovely flowers if you squeeze me that way—see, you're ruining them!"

Flora regarded the crushed orchids she had worn on her shoulder with a quizzical air. "Sure, but what of it? There'll be more where that bunch came from. That's the news. I'm going to get married. Porter Webb, of Webb and Wunzer, the Store that Sells for Less. You wouldn't believe it, but he craves to make an honest woman of me. He wants to get married, at once if not sooner. He's thrilled to death, he thinks I must have brains because I work on a paper. He says it's nice to meet a lady that ain't a buyer—yes, he says 'ain't'—but what do I care? He's going to have a grand time introducing me to all his friends, the literary Miss McCordie, can you hear it?"

Back went Flora's head, she boomed her big, hoarse laugh. "Aren't you going to congratulate me? A poor working girl with a mug like mine, making a big haul like that? Why don't you laugh? Don't you know a joke when you meet one?"

CHAPTER 14

Daphne told Miss Viola, and Miss Viola told all the roomers. It was hard to feel romantic about anyone as flippant and long-legged and loud-mouthed as Flora, but a wedding is a wedding, and a bride is a bride.

"He seems real nice," Viola said. "I didn't get a good look at his face, but he's an elegant dresser. I was always kind of partial to Webb and Wunzer's. I got the goods for my plum-colored broadcloth there. Flora's so good natured, I wouldn't be surprised if she arranged a discount for me, her husband being one of the owners and all."

"Husband?" snorted Mrs. Halliday who was sitting on the couch in the kitchen, waiting for the ironing board Viola was using. "She may talk husband, but I wouldn't count my chickens before they were hatched. If I was you, Miss Viola, many a slip between the cup and the lip."

But when Flora came bounding in, fortunately making so much noise that they heard her coming, and could stop talking about her in time, even Mrs. Halliday's doubts vanished.

"Very pretty I'm sure," she said graciously when Flora held out a freckled and rather grimy hand on which blazed an immense blue-white diamond surrounded with smaller diamonds, and sapphires for them all to admire. "Though of course I'm old-fashioned enough to like a solitaire myself!"

Mrs. Spellman washing out "a few little things" on the back porch came in, hasty wiping her hands on her apron. "Don't look at me," she panted. "I haven't had a chance to clean up all day, the time just flies so, I was washing out Spellman's underwear, the laundry shrinks them so he can't hardly . . . Gracious, Miss McCordie! My stars above, it's so big it looks almost like a novelty, though of course I don't doubt for one minute."

"Webb and Wunzer giving a imitation?" Miss Viola cried indignantly. "Well, I should say that there was one concern that could certainly afford the genuine article, I should certainly say and—"

But Flora only laughed good naturedly, and twiddled it on her finger. "Yep, it's real, all right. I only hope I'm not driven to hock it before the wedding day!"

She was still laughing when she was back in her own room with only Daphne for an audience. "Did you see Halliday's face? She can't believe he's really going to marry me, with a wedding ring and a marriage license and everything. I think I'll have to invite her . . . no I couldn't stand it, as a blushing bride I'll be nervous enough without her to . . . Say, by the way Daphne didn't you tell me Ralph McKevitt was supposed to be engaged to your half-sister or step-sister or whatever she is?"

"I heard that he was," Daphne said without looking up. She had thought about it so much that it didn't shock her any more. It was like thinking dying—something that would happen, but not very soon—not yet, or not for a long time yet—

"Well, this may not have anything to do with it—" Flora's shrewd blue eyes were glued on Daphne, "but . . . did you ever hear of Avery Woodward, the artist?"

"No, I never did. Oh Flora, do you mean that he—that he likes her, and that maybe—"

"Maybe is right," Flora agreed. "You hear some fun my gossip in a job like mine. Somebody is always telling you something, not knowing that you're personally interested. Anyway this Woodward is a notorious bum, always living off somebody, and I heard that he moved out of the Beecher place, bag and baggage about six months ago right in the middle of a portrait he was making of Mrs. Beecher—she was simply furious—and he's around all the art exhibits and bolshevik lectures with this Crystal Garroty, and if you ask me she's paying his board bill or her wouldn't be wasting his time on her!"

"But Crystal has always had lots of men friends! Everybody admires her, she's so pretty. Ralph and—"

"Ralph and that kind, but not Avery Woodward's kind if I know my onions. This Woodward has brains, even if he won't use them, and that Garroty girl hasn't had a thought since the Battle of Pharsalia. Either she's supporting him, or she's bluffed him into thinking she's going to—I know him—besides it's common gossip. This Beecher woman has been talking everybody knows it. I heard it a long time ago but I didn't say anything until I was sure it was the same Garroty."

"Crystal wouldn't support anybody," Daphne giggled. "so that much is wrong anyway. Still, if she is seen everywhere with him I don't see how she can be engaged to Ralph. I don't believe she is. I never did completely believe it, because he never said so, and I really don't trust my stepmother—"

"Well, don't build your hopes too high," Flora cut in quickly, almost wishing she hadn't said anything, it would be such a cruel shame to disappoint the girl all over again.

But Daphne's eyes were shining, her color high. "Don't you see, Flora? Don't you see? It just proves what I said all along, that Crystal doesn't really love Ralph—she wouldn't go around with this artist if she did. And if she doesn't love him he's bound to see it sooner or later, and—"

"And come back to you," Flora finished for her. "He may, of course, but don't count on it, honey. Men are pretty dumb about some things."

"Even the dumbest man would know if a girl didn't love him. You can tell—anybody can tell—"

Flora twiddled the diamond on her finger.

"Besides, I don't think any girl would marry one man when she preferred another—not even Crystal—and she certainly must like this other one if she goes with him, and he's poor, because she never looked at anyone poor before. That would be contemptible!"

"Think so?" Flora smiled. But only her lips were smiling. Her eyes were not.

"Flora, of course? Why, there wouldn't be anything worse!"

"No? Well, maybe not. I don't know." She passed a glittering hand across her eyes. "Run along, and let me get forty winks before the prospective bridegroom arrives will you. Us engaged girls are always so darned busy—"

"Did she say when was the wedding?" old Mrs. Hinkle wanted to know, when she met Daphne coming down the stairs.

At the magic word, wedding, Viola pushed aside the green velvet curtains, and came into the hall. "May day would be nice," she volunteered. "I could think up some cute period style, that wouldn't make her look too gawky—"

"And I can think how to get the room red," the old lady grumbled, making tracks for the kitchen. "Nobody else cares, only me."

"You'll be the next one!" Viola teased Daphne with a fat forefinger.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—Once again the "country was heard from" in the shape of a nice accumulation of overnight buying orders for the favorite stocks, and prices were all higher at the start of the new day.

Chicago was buying Sinclair Oil, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck and other specialties, according to inside brokerage house reports, Detroit was after the motor stocks, buying very liberally of Packard, General Motors and Briggs. Big inland steel interests were in the market for Central Alloy Steel, the first sale of which was for a block of 22,000 shares. Bulls rode roughshod over the bears in the high-priced specialties, marking up prices on Victor Talking Machine and Radio, while Vick Chemical soared another 5 points to $115.

With copper trade heads talking 17 cents a pound for copper early in 1929, and most of the copper companies making money at the fastest rate since the close of the war, showed traders are still in the market for copper stocks. The favorites are Kennecott, Greene Cananea Granby and Anaconda.

Briggs Manufacturing was snapped back happily to 51 1/2 today the stock having come back nearly 10 points from the low of the recent smash in prices. Briggs tumbled last month from 63 to 42, but recovered the first half of its loss in double-quick time. Stewart Warner was also strong today.

CATARRH GONE; COLUMBUS MAN LAUDS KONJOLA

So Weak And Ill From Stomach Trouble That He Could Not Walk—Is Well Again.

Mr. L. C. RUDOLPH.
Those who suffer from that terrible affliction, catarrhal stomach, will find much of hope in the tribute paid to Konjola by Mrs. L. C. Rudolph, 153 Souder Avenue, Columbus.
"In the many years I suffered from catarrh of the stomach I tried every medicine and remedy known, and did not get even temporary relief until I tried this marvelous Konjola. My ears rang, eyes burned. I had to live on a liquid diet. I lost in weight and strength and my nerves were shattered. I finally became so bad that I was unable to walk. I thought there was no hope. But I was wrong, for eleven bottles of the astonishing Konjola banished the catarrh from my head and cleansed my stomach. I can eat anything now, can walk any distance and am gaining rapidly in weight. If there be any who doubt this wonderful recovery, I would like to meet them personally and verify this splendid experience I had with Konjola."
Konjola is sold in East Liverpool, O., at Carnahan drug store, and by all the best druggists in this city and vicinity.

In New York a young man confessed to strangling a 15-year-old girl whom he loved. He says she wanted to kiss him. That is his excuse.

HERBERT HOOVER has arrived in Rio de Janeiro.

What probably would interest Mr. Hoover most in Brazil is a gigantic waterfall, with more power than Niagara, far from everywhere, now going to waste.

SCIENCE will find a way to carry that power to places that need it, or industry will carry factories to the power.

And some day airplanes on their way from the North to the South Pole may pick up "wireless" power from Niagara on the Canadian border, more wireless power from the coal mines of Alabama, and another supply from Brazil's big waterfall.

AT EAST LAKE, Ala., a mad dog ran through a school room. Miss Tillman and Miss Ragan, teachers, with presence of mind, ordered the children to stand on their desks, out of the animal's reach, while they seized it with their bare hands and were dangerously bitten. The dog was killed finally by the janitor.

THE same day's news tells of a farmer crossing a field attacked by a savage hog and killed. The animal's tusks ripped open an artery in the farmer's leg. He died in 10 minutes. If anybody kept such a savage beast near children the public would not tolerate it. But any man may keep any sort of savage dog, endangering other men's children, and nothing is done about it, until AFTER the dog has bitten at least one child or adult. There is no responsibility.

Pump Station Motors Considered by City

Electrification Plan Being Worked Out in Tentative Form; Massa chusetts Firm Will Submit Plans.

WELLSVILLE, O., Dec. 20.—Electrification of the municipal pump station by the installation of motors to replace boilers now in use is proposed in a plan being considered by city officials.

The project, however, is merely in tentative form at the present time.

Representatives of the Worthing

Pump company of Holyoke, Mass., a company that installed the pumps now in use, consulted with city officials here last summer and since then have prepared plans and specifications covering the work.

In a few days the company will send a representative here to confer again with authorities and, probably, submit these plans and specifications.

HIGH PASSERS OPEN TONIGHT

Play Salineville Teams on Local Court.

Wellsville high school basketball teams, coached by David Evans, and Miss Donaldson, will get their first taste of actual battle tonight in games with Salineville school passers on the local court.

Girls' team will go into action in the preliminary, beginning at 7:30 o'clock, followed by the boys' game. Miss Donaldson has been bequeathed five letter wearers from last season's squad, namely Captain Hough, Connor, Dornick, Daugherty and Collins and in consequence the local basket sextet should operate rather smoothly despite the fact that it is its first game of the campaign.

On the other hand, Coach Evans was left but two letter men, Captain Tanner Snowden and Percy. The latter at that, is eligible for only the first semester.

Nelson, center; Thompson, Buckley, Coats and Bonacci, all guards; Fiber, Shanks, Kessel and Kicans, forwards, comprise the squad from which will be chosen the quint to go against Salineville.

WARNS AGAINST TREE CUTTING

Imbrie Says Water Shed Pines Must be Left Alone.

While Service-Safety Director George B. Imbrie is anxious that every home have a Christmas tree, he is equally as anxious that prospective "Santa Clauses" choose their trees from a site other than at the municipal reservoir in Little Yellow creek.

In fact, he comes out today with an announcement prohibiting the cutting of pine trees on the reservoir watershed, declaring that "Any person or persons cutting down or removing trees of any description on the city reservoir site will be prosecuted."

Preservation of the trees around the reservoir is essential, Imbrie asserts, chiefly for the purpose of preventing the ground from slipping toward the dam.

CAN'T USE RIVER BANK FOR DUMP

Complying with an order from the United States war department, municipal authorities launched a campaign to acquaint Wellsville residents with the fact that the government does not permit the use of the river bank as a dumping ground.

War department objections were voiced in a letter received by Mayor Wallace L. Fogo from Major Jarvis J. Bain of the Pittsburgh district.

Major Bain declared that a recent inspection by the department disclosed the fact that ashes, paper and tin cans had been thrown in profusion over the bank along Riverside avenue.

Quoting a section of federal law covering the situation Major Bain said "Placing of material that is subject to wash on the river bank is in violation of United States law."

Similar notification was sent to the Cleveland office of the superintendent of the Cleveland division, Pennsylvania railroad.
